Virtual Sunday School Check-In

Thursday, January 28th

6:30—8:00 pm

via Zoom

THIS THURSDAY!

Facilitator: Ms. Betsy Majewski

How is Sunday School happening at your church during this time of Covid-19? Did you go back to in-house Sunday School? If so, how is that working? What procedures and protocols do you have in place? If you are not doing electronic reach-out, what are you doing? What are some good things happening and maybe not so good things happening? Perhaps you are just looking for some support?

Whether or not you attended a previous "Virtual Sunday School" get-together, you are welcome at this one!

Register at: <https://psecvirtualsunsch12821.eventbrite.com>

This is a free workshop thanks to your OCWM contributions!

Called to Care: A Resource for Lay Caregivers

Called to Care: A Resource for Lay Caregivers provides general advice to help UCC churches determine what kind of program would work and how to organize it. Many programs are hosted by local churches, and others may involve several churches in an area.

The manual is also used by programs in healthcare facilities or other care-giving organizations for volunteer visitation training. It's even been used ecumenically. The 2008 revision updated all of the care cards with newer resources, websites, and organizational information. The beginning chapters of the manual received minor updates as well.

The notebook version is easy to browse through, while the identical CD version allows for emailing of select parts of the manual to caregivers in the program. Buying both at once is most economical.

All Called to Care Products may be found at www.uccresources.com

Want to Keep Connected With the Conference

Remember that the best way to stay connected to the Conference is to sign up for eNews, the weekly newsletter from the Conference.

Simply go to www.psec.org. On the opening page you will see a wide red banner with the words "PSEC Weekly eNews" and a white box that says "Subscribe Today". Simply click the "Subscribe Today" box, follow the steps and enjoy being connected to your Pennsylvania Southeast Conference!
