A Message from Rev. Cean James

Associate Conference Minister for Congregational Development

Time is filled with swift transition. Naught on earth unmoved can stand.

Build your hopes on things eternal. Hold to God's unchanging hand.

I am a huge fan of modern worship music. When done thoughtfully, young worship leaders today are developing great music full of theologically astute lyrics. There are some songs, however, that come from the history of our church, that have a timeless appeal. Songs that will live forever because of the universality of their message. The lyrics above have that effect on me. We are currently living in a season of swift transitions. Transitions, even the ones we like, can be unsettling. With new administrations, new Covid rules, new worship protocols, a new vaccine; things seem to be changing daily. Here is what I have discovered; in a rapidly evolving world, its good to have a firm foundation I can stand on. The bible says that Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forevermore. Presidents change. Pastors change. Churches change. Rules Change. God, however, is the unchanging hand that we can always reach for when everything else is uncertain.

Sign up for new Cybersecurity Training Opportunity

PSEC has an opportunity to purchase a block of cybersecurity training videos. This is a 3 year, once per year, training commitment that will take place from the comfort of your own computer at your own convenience. The training will take less than an hour of your time each year for 3 years. In this time, cybersecurity is incredibly important as those who would cause harm to our computers, our private information, our friends who may not have the savvy to understand the difference between a safe email and a phishing email, are getting more sophisticated in their tactics when trying to infiltrate our computers and when spoofing our own email addresses. If you don't know what a phishing email is, what spoofing means, what ransomware and malware are, what a trojan horse is or a worm is, what spear phishing is or what clickjacking is, you might want to consider signing up for this training. Again, it is a 3 year, one hour per year training on the internet. If you are interested, let your intent known to Tammie Wisniewski at tammie@psec.org. The cost is $66 per person for all 3 years and must be paid upfront when we would purchase the course. More information will follow on that piece. Please email your interest asap to Tammie so we can discern if there is a need for this cybersecurity support in the Conference.
